

Reading Papers By Touch

1

Introduction

Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells.

2

Methods

Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells. Blind researchers read papers with refreshable Braille displays and screen readers. This sentence is here so the section is longer than one line of forty cells.